Top Accusers Of McCarthy To Get No Call

Senate Probe Chief Says Statement All In Record Anyway

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) said today a six-man inquiry committee has no plans to call as witnesses three senators who accused Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) of misconduct.

Watkins, who heads the bipartisan committee, said he sees no need of having Senators Flanders (R-Vt.), Fulbright (D-Ark.), and Morse (Ind-Ore) repeat under oath the 46 accusations they leveled against McCarthy in the Senate.

"These senators are not complaining witnesses," he said. "Their responsibility ended when they called the Senate's attention to the charges and the responsibility became the Senate's when it ordered this investigation."

"If they have any personal, firsthand knowledge of evidence, they could testify to that, but all of them have indicated to me that their knowledge of the charges is based on records which are available to the committee."

MCCARTHY HAD demanded that Flanders return from a European vacation to repeat under oath the 33 charges the Vermont senator made against him in the Senate. Flanders said he will be available at the committee's call, if the group wants him. But he said he would not need any summons by McCarthy.

The Vermont Republican has been one of the sharpest critics of the Republican senator from Wisconsin. Flanders has accused McCarthy of acting like Hitler when conducting his investigations. In return, McCarthy has belittled Flanders, calling the Vermonter "senile."

Today's announcement was viewed by some observers as a parliamentary defeat for McCarthy, who has remained, for the Wisconsin senator, unusually quiet since the Senate voted to schedule the hearing on McCarthy's behavior.

Flanders, Fulbright and Morse contend that McCarthy's conduct, ranging from his financial operations to his defiance of a Senate subcommittee and his criticism of colleagues, tends to bring the Senate into disrepute.

You'd never believe a sleeping 3-year-old boy could cause so much commotion.

Through no fault of his, Saturday afternoon the whole neighborhood and the police combed the bottoms along Paint Creek from the Sycamore Street bridge east, the Pennsylvania Railroad, the fields between Broadway and the creek, the alleys, the homes and yards of the neighbors and, yes, even his grandmother's house, where he was visiting.

Little Pearce Mann, who had been spending the week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Del Mann of St. Louis, with Mrs. Mann's mother, Mrs. Fathie Pearce, at 407 Broadway, went upstairs to take his nap like a good little boy.

His grandmother, like most doting grandmothers, couldn't resist slipping up to take a peep at him... but when she opened the door he was gone.

Mrs. Pearce let out a scream... Pearce was gone. They all started going through the house, peering into closets and even opening the drawers of the bedroom chests... but no Pearce.

As the hunt spread feverishly to the outdoors, little Pearce's mother collapsed and fainted... it was the shock... and a physician was called... it was 15 minutes before she was revived.

Meanwhile, the police and neighbors were scouring the bottoms along the creek.

Distressed and discouraged, they finally came back and Grandma Pearce went back upstairs calling for her grandson... she still doesn't know just why.

More than an hour had elapsed since the confusion broke loose and it was now the time Pearce would have been waking from his nap.

A faint and sleepy little voice answered the calls from the bedroom. There was Pearce on the floor under the bed, wrapped in his blanket... just where he had fallen out of the big bed without waking.

His mother's almost hysterical reaction as she laughed through tears was: "I almost wish he had done something bad so I could spank him." Instead she just held him tightly in her arms.

Monday morning the Mann family started back to St. Louis.

Indictment Of 4 Teen-Age Toughs Asked In Brooklyn

NEW YORK (AP)—The state of New York today asked a Brooklyn grand jury to indict for first-degree murder four teen-age terrorists who tortured and battered harmless people just for thrills. Two of their victims were killed.

The shocking reports of the four's brutality brought new vigor to a police campaign already started against "undesirables." Over the weekend more than 600 persons were rounded up by police on the lookout for young toughs.

Police also had their eyes open for any would-be imitators of the kill-for-thrill gang.

One alleged band of imitators was caught only after its victim, Joel Ewen, a 19-year-old student, stumbled into a police station with his face covered with blood. He reported he was set upon by three youths, the leader of whom yelled at his victim:

"I'm Koslow, the thrill killer." He referred to Jack Koslow, 18, already jailed as the alleged leader of the four who police say prowled Brooklyn parks viciously beating helpless men and, in one case, horsewhipping two girls.

KOSLOW IS being held for assault. His three buddies — Melvin Mittman, 17; Jerome Lieberman, 17; and Robert Trachtenberg, 15 — are under indictment for homicide in the death of one of their victims.

All four are reported by police to have admitted taking part in the second death, for which the first-degree murder indictment is sought.

Toledo Youth Held In Slaying

TOLEDO (AP)—Police continued questioning 17-year-old Bernard Schreiber today about the Aug. 12 rape-slaying of a girl his own age, Mary Jolene Friess.

The round shouldered youth, who police quoted Friday as admitting the crime, changed his story slightly Saturday after talking with the Rev. E. J. Connelly at St. Patrick's Church here.

Schreiber said the boy hit the girl with a piece of wood, knocking her off the bike. Then he added that the boy ran away while he chased the girl then stabbed her with a three-inch pocket knife.

After talking with the priest, Schreiber changed the story, saying the boy had used a hoe handle and that his weapon had been a six-inch hunting knife.

COLUMBUS (AP)—Seven children were killed in Ohio accidents over the weekend. Five died in traffic accidents, two drowned.

The death toll for the weekend was 13 traffic dead and three drowned.

Airliner Missing

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands (AP)—A Royal Dutch KLM airliner vanished mysteriously today on a flight from New York, but one report said a fishing vessel had sighted some lifebelts and packages in the North Sea off the Dutch coast.

ler, said over the weekend he planned to ask Brooklyn County court to transfer the youth from jail to Kings County Hospital for psychiatric care. A similar request made in state supreme court last Friday was turned down.

The Koslow imitators who attacked Ewen were identified by police as Anthony Ferrentino, 21, Clifton, N. J., and Frank Lyons, 20, and Eugene Mooney, 23, both of Brooklyn.

They were held in $5,000 bail each for assault.

Rail, Airline Mishaps Kill 15 Persons

CHICAGO (AP)—Railroad and airline investigators today probed two accidents which took a total of 15 lives yesterday.

The streamliner Sante Fe Chief derailed near Lomax, Ill., killing four passengers and injuring 53 others. Only the locomotive and a mail car of the 13-car train held the rails.

Near Mason City, Iowa, a Braniff Airways DC3, caught in a wild electrical storm, crashed into a pasture, killing 11 persons and injuring eight others.

A dozen of the Sante Fe Chief's cars zigzagged along the track, some crashing into a parallel string of refrigerator cars on another track. All remained upright except No. 9, which rolled onto its side.

It was No. 9 which contained most of the victims.

At least 13 of the injured were in serious condition in hospitals in Burlington and Fort Madison, Iowa, across the Mississippi River.

The Braniff plane, northbound from Memphis, Tenn., to Minneapolis, was only about 10 minutes out from the Mason City field, Braniff officials said, when they radioed it to hold off landing because of the storm.

The field never received an answer, airline officials reported. Highway patrolmen reported a wire of a new high-voltage power line between Fort Dodge and Mason City had been snapped and they said they believed the plane had hit it.

In Dallas, Braniff officials said it was the first fatal crash of one of the line's planes since 1939.

Hillsboro Engineer Facing Ouster

HILLSBORO (AP)—Highland County Prosecutor Richard L. Davis and the county commissioners today filed charges of misconduct against Philip Partridge, county engineer, in a move to have him dismissed from office.

Partridge pleaded guilty at a preliminary hearing July 7 to a charge of arson in connection with a fire on July 5 at the all Negro Lincoln elementary school. The grand jury, which will meet Sept. 13, is scheduled to consider the arson charge.

After his arrest, Partridge refused to resign, claiming he had done nothing wrong "as an engineer." He declared he started the fire to protest racial inequalities and that his action had nothing to do with his job.

Churchill Tries To Salvage Nearly-Doomed EDC Plan

Here Is Tally Of Work Done By Congress

Ike Credited As Winner In 3 Out of 4 Major Foreign Aid Battles

Editors: American ears will din in the coming pre-election weeks with pros and cons of what the just-adjourned Congress actually accomplished. Following is the first in a series of articles, free from political taint, of what the record actually shows.

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower won three of his big foreign aid battles with Congress. He lost a fourth, which may hamper severely his policies for tightening U. S. relations with Allied countries.

Here is the record:
1. Foreign trade. Eisenhower's major setback. Congress balked at the President's program for lowering tariffs to encourage Allied and friendly nations to trade with the United States.

Eisenhower succeeded in getting mainly a simple extension for one year of his bill to negotiate tariff-cutting trade treaties but none of the new authority he asked to lower tariffs through such treaties.

Diplomats attached great significance to the record in this issue because American foreign aid programs, aside from military, are rapidly coming to an end and other countries are worrying about where necessary dollars will be obtained.

2. Foreign aid. Congress voted a total of $2,781,000,000 for the current 12 months period. It was around $700 million less than requested by the President.

ADMINISTRATION officials claim the cuts were not crippling, however, and would not be interpreted by foreign governments as evidence that the United States was withdrawing into a shell. Other governments constantly look to congressional action for evidence as to whether the legislators are on the whole supporting the President's program of "partnership" with friendly countries. About 80 per cent of the total for foreign aid is for military purposes.

3. Atomic. The President registered possibly his greatest victory on this issue. He gained authority, although not all he asked, to transfer to America's allies in Europe secret information about the effects of atomic weapons and such information as size, weight and shape of these weapons.

Officials said this would enable the United States to bring military thinking of countries like France and Italy out of World War II concepts into the atomic age.

The President also won authority to assist cooperating countries like Belgium, which furnishes atomic raw materials to the United States, to build up atomic industry.

4. Bricker amendment. Eisenhower won a tough fight when the Senate declined to go for the constitutional amendment put forward by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) to restrict presidential powers to make international agreements.

There was a fifth great issue which never was officially presented to Congress although members spent many an hour making speeches on the subject—how to save Southeast Asia from Communist conquest.

THE PROGRAM of legislation turned out by Congress will have a long-range important bearing on U. S. foreign relations aside from immediate effects.

This is a period of transition in relationships with other countries. In general the United States is cleaning up eight years of efforts to promote the economic recovery and stability of other countries. Nations like Britain and France are back on their feet, at least to the extent that American dollar grants can get them there. In underdeveloped countries of Asia and Africa, American policy increasingly emphasizes Point Four assistance—the relatively inexpensive program of teaching other people how to grow more food and make more goods.

For the big Western European producing countries and for Japan, the great issue now is this: (Please Turn to Page Two)

Churchmen Forging Guides For Christians Of the World

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Churchmen from throughout the world began hammering out in cold prose today the principles which they hope will guide 170 million Christians.

Meeting in discussion groups, the delegates to the second General Assembly of the World Council of Churches sought answers to such questions as the church's attitude toward communism; the capitalistic, free enterprise system and racial and social problems.

Agreed to by members of the discussion groups, the reports later this week will be submitted to full plenary sessions of the Assembly and adopted for guidance by the more than 60 denominations holding membership in the World Council.

There will be six of the reports. Delegates said today that the two on which they will have the most difficulty in reaching agreement will be those on international affairs and social questions.

On international affairs, the churchmen sought to determine what are the main obstacles to an understanding between the Soviet and non-Soviet societies.

They tried, too, to find a solution to what they called the "misunderstandings, hostility and suspicion" between the East and the West.

They tried to find answers to such questions as these:

"What is the significance of international technical and financial assistance for underdeveloped countries in relation to a positive peace strategy?"

"What must be said from a Christian perspective with regard to such dangers as complacency among Western powers, intolerant methods among Soviet states and irresponsibility among some of the less developed countries?"

The council's department of interchurch aid and service to refugees dramatized its statistics last night and with a cast of 500 told the story of the world's millions of refugees and what the church is doing to help them.

FBI on Hand To Nip Theft At PX Center

COLUMBUS (AP)—Federal agents were on hand yesterday, ready to make an arrest as three men broke a padlock on an outside door and tried to force open inner doors in the post exchange at Lockbourne Air Force Base.

Inside was $125,000 in cash and merchandise. The FBI said weekend receipts from post exchanges at Lockbourne, Columbus General Depot and Ft. Hayes were in two main safes.

The FBI would not say how it learned of the plans.

After the trio was arrested, the FBI arrested three other men in Columbus. All six were accused of conspiracy to commit a crime on a government reservation. Two of the men are airmen stationed at Lockbourne.

They appeared before U. S. Commissioner Robert Newlon here yesterday who set bond at $5,000 each. They were held in city jail. The FBI identified the six as Richard Lee Jones, 22, A3C Junest Lee Sykes, 21, and Joseph Robert Adkins, 32, arrested at the base; A2C Raymond Fentress, 23, James Shields Jr., 24, and Raymond Lee Hicks, 23, all of Columbus.

The three PXs are centrally operated from Lockbourne.

30 Young U. S. Airmen Held As Terror Gang Members

CHANUTE AIR FORCE BASE, Ill. (AP)—Air Force officials have seized 30 young airmen as suspected members of a secret youth terrorist society they called "Pachuco."

After extensive questioning, all but 30 of the 175 were released but kept under post arrest. The remaining men, said Col. Wilson, were "silly and arrogant and living up to the code of Pachuco."

He said all had a "sign of Pachuco" carved into their palms or chest. This sign, he said, resembles a cross, with slashes added to honor "particularly outstanding acts of violence committed by the member."

He said he had a Pachuco "code" in his possession under which no information must be given law enforcement officials and requiring that knives be carried at all times.

Lt. Whitley said Pachuco gangs are common on the West Coast and usually are made up of "young hoodlums of Mexican extraction." However, Col. Wilson said the men at Chantute are "young toughs of all nationalities and seem to follow no pattern of background."

He said he expects court-martial charges will be made against the gang members.

SATURDAY morning, segments of the base's complement of 15,000 airmen were assembled and or-

Mendes-France In London For Special Talks

Foreign Ministers Admit Agreement Not Sighted on New Army

LONDON (AP)—French Premier Pierre Mendes-France conferred more than three hours today with Prime Minister Churchill today on ways to salvage the European Defense Community (EDC) and left with the Briton's pledge: "I will do all I can to help you."

Churchill gave his pledge as he opened the door of Pierre Mendes' car for him after a long talk at Chartwell, the prime minister's country estate 25 miles outside London, on which British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden sat in.

The dynamic little French leader, fretting over the fate of the EDC treaty when it comes up for debate in the French National Assembly Saturday, then drove to Biggin Hill Air Field nearby and took a plane to Paris.

The French leader flew to Britain from Brussels after his failure there to sell France's five continental allies on proposals for a watered-down version of the treaty that would put a half million West Germans into military uniforms.

MENDES-FRANCE gave Churchill, father of the idea of a united European Defense, a rundown on the abortive Brussels conference.

Britain, like the United States, is associated with but not a member of the proposed EDC which would include France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Italy and West Germany.

Both London and Washington have been pushing hard for EDC, arguing that the plan which provides for West German rearmament is vital for the defense of Europe against Communist aggression.

Mendes-France believes there is little or no chance that the French parliament will accept EDC in its present form when it comes up for debate Saturday.

Mendes-France came straight from Brussels, where the six-nation talks on the European Defense Community broke down yesterday after four days of practically fruitless bargaining.

Winding up their conference in the Belgian capital, the foreign ministers of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg issued a communique admitting failure to agree on EDC but declaring they shared these four common political aims for Western Europe:

1. CLOSER European cooperation to protect West Europe from aggression.

2. The avoiding of neutralization of Germany.

3. Continued efforts to work for unification of Germany and some sort of German contribution to Allied defense.

4. Drafting of a formula to promote Europe's political and economic integration.

It was generally felt that barring some miracle, EDC and the six-nation European army it was to set up were dead hopes.

Observers in Paris predicted the National Assembly would kill the pact once and for all if Mendes-France submits it for ratification this weekend as scheduled.

The French premier reportedly carried to Churchill the outline of some alternate plan of European defense, in which Britain would play a major role. Observers in London believed Churchill himself had some such plan to put before the bustling French leader.

They recalled Churchill's message last week to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, a key figure at the Brussels talks. "My belief," Churchill said then, "is that all will come out right in the end in one form or another."

ADENAUER HIMSELF declared yesterday, after the talks broke down, that he was confident Mendes-France would win ratification of EDC in the French National Assembly debate to begin next Saturday. The French premier already had told the Brussels group he was convinced the Assembly would reject the army plan unless the other five nations agreed to the sweeping revisions he demanded in the EDC treaty.

Boy, 9, Killed When Hit by Car

Riding His Bicycle
With Two Friends

A nine-year-old Wilson township boy was struck by an automobile as he rode his bicycle after two other playmates Saturday afternoon while two women, who saw the accident about to happen, were powerless to stop it.

John H. (Johnny) Alexander son of Charles and Margaret Arey Alexander of near Leomington, was killed when his bicycle was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Mary E. Pickering, 41, of Cedarville on Route 72 at Sabina road four miles north of Reesville, Saturday at 1:45 P. M.

Johnny's bicycle was crushed by the impact and he was thrown beneath the car. Dr. W. L. Wead of Sabina was called, but he was dead when he reached the scene. Death was attributed to a broken neck and numerous cuts and bruises.

Johnny had been at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Larick nearby playing with Pat Larick and Noel Brown, Jr. The boys had been having a snack at the Larick home and then decided to take a ride on their bicycles.

As Mrs. Pickering, who was driving north on Route 72, approached the Sabina road crossing she saw two boys on bicycles flash across the intersection. That was Noel and Pat. She did not know however, that Johnny was following them on his bicycle; a corn field at the intersection hid the young bicycle rider from her view.

MRS. PICKERING told State Highway Patrolmen Douglas White and Louis W. Schnelle she did not see Johnny until she was almost upon him. She swerved her car in a futile effort to avoid hitting him, she said.

Mrs. Walter Sanderson, 58, of near Sabina was approaching the intersection from the north in another car and could see Johnny coming westward on Sabina road, but there was no way she could warn Mrs. Pickering. Mrs. Sanderson had to swerve into the ditch to avoid having her car struck by Mrs. Pickering's.

Mrs. Larick, who just a few minutes before had been giving a snack to these three boys, was in her yard and saw the accident. The boys had been gone only five or 10 minutes when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Pickering's car was only slightly damaged on the right front fender and headlight.

Johnny was born April 9, 1945, at Bowersville and had lived near Bloomington for five years. He attended Bowersville school.

Survivors include his parents: two sisters, Susie E. and Wilma Rae; his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Susie Alexander, and his maternal grandfather, Charles A. Arey, both of Lawshe.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday at 2 P. M. at the Bowersville Church of Christ by Rev. Mike Grange. Burial will be in the Bowersville cemetery in charge of the Littleton Funeral Home, Sabina.

Friends may call at the funeral home until Tuesday noon.

Electric-Plant Strike Ended

MADISON, Ind. (AP)—About 2,200 workers returned to their jobs today at the giant Clifty Falls electric power plant being constructed for the Atomic Energy Commission after AFL millwrights withdrew picket lines set up Friday.

The National Joint Labor Board in Washington ordered the men back to work during mediation of a jurisdictional dispute between the millwrights and iron workers. Millwrights contended iron workers were doing millwright work.

It was the fourth brief work stoppage in five months at the plant which will provide power for the atomic energy plant in Southern Ohio. Three of them involved jurisdictional disputes.

Football Seats Available Now

Football fans, who have made their requests for reserved seats for the games here this fall, may pick up their season tickets with the reserved seats noted on them any afternoon this week at the office of the high school principal, Arthur Engle, the faculty manager, has announced.

Many of the fans turned in their ticket stubs after the last game last fall with a request that the same seats be reserved for them again this fall.

About two weeks ago, Engle announced that those who want reserved seats this fall should make their requests, preferably in writing, before Aug. 23. He said he had not yet had time to make an accurate check on the number of requests.

Last year, nearly all the reserved seats in the stadium on the south side of the field were taken; so were many of those in the stands on the north side of the field below the press box.

Members of the Lion football squad have been selling season tickets for more than a week now and these are to be taken to the high school this week, any day between 2 P. M. and 5 P. M., to get their tickets on which the reserved seats are noted.

The principal's office is to the left of the North Street entrance to the high school building.

Here Is Tally

Can they get from United States foreign trade, either directly or indirectly, the dollars which formerly got into international monetary channels by way of American aid?

If they cannot, must they look to Russia and Red China for a greater trade volume or is there sufficient volume among the free nations without an expanded American market?

Insofar as U. S. political policy goes, this comes down to saying that the degree of cooperation, the solidarity of the Western front against Soviet communism will stand in the long run on the foundation of the dollars and cents relationships of buying and selling. That conviction is held in the State Department from top to bottom.

It has been reflected from time to time in President Eisenhower's calls for a greater volume of foreign trade.

Foreign governments realize that Congress holds the key to this. What Congress did in the present session will therefore have a far-reaching influence on the plans of Allied and friendly nations.

Teachers Are Back From Convention

Miss Gladys Melson and Mrs. Frank Mayo of Washington C. H., Mrs. Elton Elliott of Bloomington, and Miss Chloe McGlinch of Columbus, returned Sunday from Boston, Mass., where they had attended a five-day session of the Delta Kappa Gamma national convention.

Miss Melson, president of Alpha Delta chapter here, was the delegate and Miss McGlinch attended as state historian.

Highlight of the convention was the report that $67,900 had been raised to date for a fund established at the 1952 convention. The fund is devoted to graduate study for teachers.

The money was given at this convention to 52 teachers, one each from the 48 states, Hawaii, District of Columbia, British Columbia and Ontario, with $1,300 going to each individual.

At the Friday night session, a typical New England town meeting was held. The result of this meeting was the decision to build a Delta Kappa Gamma headquarters building at the cost of $140,000. It will be erected in Austin, Tex.

Following the convention, the four ladies toured New England for ten days.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—If a political campaign can be said to have an official opening, it will come tonight when President Eisenhower talks to the nation on the Republicans' two years in power.

All 435 House seats and 37 of the 96 Senate seats are at stake in November's congressional election. Control of Congress will be at issue two years ago too when Eisenhower swept into the White House while Republicans as a party barely edged through to a paper-thin majority in Senate and House.

The campaign picture is different today.

In 1952 Eisenhower was a war hero, untested in the presidency. His Republicans, asking control of Congress, could point more to promises than performance. They had run Congress only two out of the past 20 years.

Now the Republicans have had two years to perform.

Eisenhower can claim to have been a pretty good prophet on at least two counts, unless campaign talk takes an unexpected shift:

1. He predicted late in 1953, when he had been in office less than a year, that Communists in government would be a memory, and not an issue, in the 1954 campaign. Republicans had made it a main issue against the Democrats in 1952.

2. He predicted the big issue this year would be the program of his administration which he called "progressive" and "dynamic." There will be other issues but this seems sure now to be No. 1.

Eisenhower's optimism that Reds in government would not be a major campaign talking point this year was based on the argument that by then his administration would have pretty well cleaned them out.

Whether the administration has or not, there has been very little talk about this subject in recent months, except by Sen. McCarthy.

The Wisconsin Republican for months had banged away at the Army for not getting rid of suspects faster. And he had talked of investigating, but never did, the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA). It was plain Eisenhower wouldn't let him investigate the CIA, the American superspy and counterspy outfit. As the elections near, McCarthy has been talking of subversives in defense plants, not in government.

As for the Republican program, Democratic leaders already have said they would make it—at least the farm-labor-tax-power business policy part of it—a No. 1 target in the campaign.

Eisenhower himself, when he took over the presidency, sometimes gave the impression of a man who thought all he had to do, or perhaps should do, was suggest a program to Congress. After that it was up to Congress.

But he learned that part of the presidency is fighting for a program, either in public statements or in behind-the-scenes wire pulling and head-to-head conversations.

After two years in office he apparently remains an immensely popular President. The voters in November will show how popular a Republican Congress is.

In its first session the 83rd Congress was no ball of fire. But Eisenhower had presented it with a very modest program. Being new in the job, he used that first year in getting ready for the second one.

This year he hit Congress with a truly extensive program, machine-gunning his proposals up to the Capitol in the early months of 1954.

For a while it seemed this might be a truly do-nothing Congress. It loomed ahead. Its activity was eclipsed, and probably delayed, by the 36 days of Army-McCarthy hearings.

Once the hearings were out of the way Congress got down to law-making and hit a fiery pace in its last weeks. On Friday, a few hours before Congress folded, White House aides proclaimed proudly what had been done.

Sixty-five bills, they said, had been requested by the President

Boy and Girl Spend Week at Ohio Camp

Two young people from Fayette County are among the 60 boys and girls attending the fourth annual training camp of the Ohio Forestry Association. They are Karma Kay, daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Kermit K. Knox of Jeffersonville, and Bill McFadden, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McFadden of southern Fayette County.

Karma Kay and Bill were chosen from a number of nominees for their outstanding work in 4-H Club activities, according to Albert Cobb, associate county agent.

Two business firms in Washington, C. H., sponsored their trip, providing a part of the expenses. Willis Lumber Co. is the sponsor of Karma Kay and Bill is being by the Sinclair Refining Co. here.

ALTOGETHER, 60 boys and girls from 35 counties will be at Camp Ohio from Monday through Saturday. The camp, located near Utica in northern Licking County, offers training in various phases of forestry and conservation.

Camp Director Roy McKinley, principal of Coshocton High School, will be assisted by six professional foresters. In addition to classroom and laboratory work under these men, the campers will be given instruction in land judging and land use. The Ohio Department of Soils and the Soil Conservation Service have planned demonstrations for early in the week.

The program will be rounded out with field trips to the U. S. hydrological experiment station at Coshocton and the Wagers Brothers' Sawmill at Clark.

Shipboard training for the future officers includes practical experience in seamanship, navigation, gunnery, engineering and communications.

Part of the squadron will stop at Dublin, Ireland and Portsmouth, England; the remainder at Glasgow, Scotland and Brest, France.

The cruise will end at Norfolk, Va., Sept. 3 after gunnery exercises at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

and only 11 had failed to pass. That, of course, was speaking of lawmaking in quantity.

The Democrats have already started arguing back about the quality, and also about what was left undone.

Pennington Bakery Enters Troy Show

Products of the Pennington Brothers, Inc., Bakery of Washington, C. H., will be among the displays of more than 90 exhibitors at the second annual Miami Valley Food and Appliance Show to be held in the Hobart arena at Troy on Sept. 17, 18 and 19.

The announcement, which came from the Hobart arena publicity office, said the show attracted more than 15,000 visitors last year and that more than that are expected at this year's event.

The exhibits will be open from 2 to 10 P. M. each day.

The Dayton Power & Light Co. will conduct one of the biggest cooking schools in their history each afternoon at 1 o'clock.

A huge list of entertainment is scheduled throughout the exhibit hours to serve as a magnet for customers in addition to the many fine exhibits and multitudes of samples which will be given away.

B&O Promises Less Whistling

Railroad Executive Acts on Complaints

The chances are good that the wee-hour hooting of train whistles here will be abated soon, City Manager James F. Parkinson believes.

Last Thursday, Parkinson sent letters to superintendents of the B & O Railroad in two cities, Dayton and Newark and of the DT&I Railroad at Dearborn, Mich.

To each of them, he wrote, "For some time, I have been receiving complaints of excessive noise from train whistles at night here in Washington, C. H., particularly after midnight."

Parkinson cited examples in his letter. "Five long blasts at 2:30 A. M.," he wrote, "is too much noise just to call in the flagman. Such incidents occur nearly every night."

Saturday morning, a reply to his letter arrived.

J. F. Robbert, supervisor of the B & O in Dayton, wrote, "We are directing this matter to the attention of the persons responsible with the request that remedial action be taken."

"Further, we are furnishing a copy of your letter to Superintendent T. E. Johnson of Newark with the request that he take similar action with the employees coming under his jurisdiction."

This is not the first time the problem has come up here, Parkinson said. Last summer, whistle-blowing engineers roused the town at night too.

But Parkinson said that a similar letter of complaint written last year "greatly improved the situation."

Handcuff Trick Sorta Backfires

NEW YORK (AP)—Patrick Hastings, 29, thought it would be a wonderful joke to handcuff his friend Pvt. James Speer to his bride a few hours, Joan, and then mail the keys to Alaska.

So he bought a pair of heavy-duty handcuffs for $15 and took them along to the wedding reception at a Brooklyn hotel.

But Speer and his new wife ducked out early, and there were the handcuffs, sitting in their box. So . . .

At 4 a. m., after two emergency squad cops had worked an hour and a half to clip off the manacles, Hastings didn't think the joke was so funny.

Somebody at the party had handcuffed Hastings to his own wife.

Sleepy Kidnapers Caught By Police

CINCINNATI (AP)—Cincinnati police have captured two Kentucky fugitives they say forced a motorist at knifepoint to drive them from Lexington, Ky., then fell asleep on the job.

They said William Campbell, 29, and Edford Burton Jr., 24 of Bulan, Ky., along with six other men, sawed their way out of Hazard, Ky., jail Thursday. They had been charged with housebreaking.

Near Lexington the pair hailed a car driven by Lucien Phillips, 41, a truck driver living in that vicinity, rode to Lexington, then made Phillips continue driving to Covington, Ky.

When both men fell asleep—Burton with knife in hand—Phillips drove across the Ohio River to a brother's house in Cincinnati and telephoned police.

The two men—awakened by patrolmen—promptly went back to sleep when placed in cells at Central Police Station here yesterday.

Sweden Records Annual Madness

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Stockholm's perennial hot weather riots floared again yesterday with the usual busted noggins as thrill seekers let off steam. Police, as in past outbreaks, rounded up prostitutes, hoodlums and other veteran trouble makers.

Several persons were painfully injured. One man was tossed through a show window into an art gallery and was rushed to a hospital with a slashed artery. A policeman who tried to help him into an ambulance had his jaw busted by a group of hoodlums.

Police arrested 32 persons, including one prostitute who ran through the streets disrobing as authorities tried to haul her into a car.

Prostitutes have been blamed for touching off most of the mid-summer riots, but everyone seems agreed that the crowds join in just for the thrills.

Boy, 12, Held After Attack

WEST UNION, Ohio (AP)—A 12-year-old boy will appear in the Adams County Juvenile Court Monday to face a charge of attempting to murder a traveling grocery store driver to obtain money to attend the county fair.

Sheriff Eugene Fulton said the boy admitted planning the murder for a week. Driver Wilbur Baldwin, 23, of West Union suffered eight wounds in the head when the youth attacked him with a hatchet. The boy got no money.

Comic Book Industry Getting Public Thrashing

The paper-backed comic book industry is beginning to note some trouble in the air as a result of opposition by many adult citizens in many localities over the character of the contents of a number of such publications, many of which do not properly come under the heading of "comic books."

There has been reported a drop in sales of many of these books, estimated by some as much as 40 percent. If that is the case the publishers of such periodicals have nobody's shoulder to cry upon but their own because some of this type of so-called "literature" has been of a very lurid type and worse.

Some cities, like Circleville, are beginning to take hold of the matter in an official way. Officials of that city last week declared a ban on all "horror type comic books and those playing up sex and crime."

The Circleville edict followed a conference of the county prosecutor, the sheriff, the police chief and the mayor. That meeting of officials and their edict to dealers giving them 30 days to clean up their newsstands of such periodicals, followed a growing campaign by Circleville civic, fraternal and church organizations. The drive in that locality was reported to have been started by the Rotary Club with other organizations soon thereafter taking up the cudgels.

Over in Greene County some time ago there was a "stir-up" which resulted in many of the dealers who sold such periodicals quickly cooperating voluntarily. Some other cities are reporting similar experiences.

Here in Fayette County there has been no such move reported but there is almost constant criticism heard which sometime may result in some type of action, if the dealers themselves fail to do so.

What most people find objectionable in these books, particularly for the youngsters, are the type which makes the daring villains heroic and frequently makes the police and other peace officers look dumb. The sexy type of such books for teen-agers are also under the ban.

It is argued that not all comic books are bad and that common sense should be the guide to dictate which are harmless and which are bad influences morally. Maybe a lot of the trouble with the comic book industry was its unwillingness, or refusal, to make any efforts to clean its own house, in spite of rising criticism.

For many years a lot of this nation's youngsters eagerly awaited each new issue of some of these books. They crouched before newsstands or in their own homes, or sometimes in secluded places, reading these small magazine stories of brutality, crime or torture, some of the sexy type also, with hardly a glance from apathetic parents as to what the teen-agers were reading.

Receipts rolled in from some 90 million books of this general type, read in the U. S. each month. Apparently the publishers of the better books and magazine made little attempt to rid the industry of its undesirables.

There is talk now of a regulatory agency within the industry—similar to the movie industry's censoring office—but the house-cleaning seems a little late. The public, becoming angered at what some publishers have been feeding America's youth, is indiscriminate in its reaction. Legitimate comics are being rebuked along with the bad.

Comic book producers can regain the public's trust only by publishing worthwhile books. However, it may be a long, slow climb. Such is the penalty for any industry that, through greed and indifference, loses the confidence of the public.

Here's Rare Material for Movie

NEW YORK (AP)—Since the movie makers seem to be in the middle of an "Egyptian cycle" just now, it is surprising that they have overlooked one of the great love stories of that fascinating land.

It involves a queen, and a mysterious tragedy.

She was the lovely Nefertiti and you doubtless have seen copies of the famous head—the long, arching neck and perfect profile, the wide, almond shaped eyes, all balanced by a massive royal headdress.

In the wall engravings that have survived these 3,000 years, she appears as a slim and beautifully formed woman, almost as tall as her husband, the king. And this is a description of her in the words of some forgotten writer—

"The headdress, great in favor, lady of grace, sweet of love, mistress of the south and north, fair of face, gay with the two plumes, chief wife of the king, and, whom he loves, lady of the two lands, great of love, Nefertiti, living forever and ever..."

But in the city where this appears, there is a ruined building that breathes of tragedy. It evidently was her home and it indicates that after perhaps 14 years of perfect marriage, she left the palace and her husband never to return.

Why? Did she quarrel with the king and leave voluntarily? Or was she sent away, blasted by some terrible disgrace? The secret has never been unlocked, but here is the story up to the point where it disappears in voiceless dark.

Her husband, Akhnaton, was an extraordinary man. If you read that excellent book, "The Egyptian," you learned a good deal about him. He is known as the "great heretic."

He broke away from the powerful and established priesthood that had gripped Egypt for thousands of years before his day. He introduced the concept of a single deity—an astonishing forerunner of Christianity—eliminated the elements of fear and dread that characterized the old religion.

In short, he abolished the thousand gods and demons of the old ways, and taught his people to worship in a spirit of joy and light. Again, the parallel between these patterns and the Christian concept, which was to appear many centuries later, is almost startling.

Meanwhile, his life with his queen, Nefertiti, must have been a romantic idyll.

The engravings show them in charming poses (the king with his arm around her) supporting her in a chariot (holding her hand as he dispenses gifts) the king and queen playing with their daughters.

Then something happened. She left him and went to live in a house on the north side of the royal capital that he had built.

Nobody knows why. But there is a theory that in his later years, Akhnaton recoiled from the fearful step he had taken, the rejection of the ancient gods. Perhaps the priests slowly wore him down.

There is a belief that Nefertiti, for political reasons, was an even more fierce enemy of the old gods than he was. And perhaps this was the basis for a terrible quarrel that caused her to leave him.

Her name was erased from many of the statues and much of the story has been lost.

Which leaves room for the scenario writers to graft a happy ending on it.

By George Sokolsky

Publicity-Conscious Politicians

The "London Times" has probably saved the British Empire by publishing "want ads" and similar trifles on its front page, keeping the important news for page five or six. Perhaps that is why Sir Winston Churchill and not Aneurin Bevan is prime minister. If this is logic, make the most of it!

The struggle for space on page one of the principal newspapers of this country has turned many a sober, decent statesman into a burlesque actor who sees an opportunity to become a national figure by doing things that ordinarily would revolt his sensibilities. It was Senator Kefauver, the great reformer, in association with Rudolph Halley, the man with the nasal lisp, who made televising a Congressional hearing the greatest show on earth. And thenceforth, the statesmen who exhibited themselves on that show were known to millions of citizens who had never heard of them before. They became front page news and having seized so glorious a position, they continue to cultivate it to what they believe is their advantage.

One of the main objections to Joe McCarthy is that he manages to hold space on page one, come what may. If he does not make what seems to be startling news about himself, his enemies do it for him. If he does not stir up excitement over a "Fifth Amendment Communist," or the conduct of General George Marshall, his opponents accuse Joe McCarthy of such gross improprieties that they, the improprieties, vie with our defeat in Indochina, a murder or two, and several kidnappings—and Joe comes out on page one. Not even an FBI arrest of several Communists takes Joe off the front page. There must be a reason.

Other senators are grieved by this monopoly and weep in their sleeves over it. They try their hardest to do something which will push Joe off page one and only too often they fail. Exactly why they care is beyond me because it is a fact in political history that some of the quietest members of the Senate have been the most often re-elected. Perhaps it is coming home to Mrs. and hearing her say:

"That Joe McCarthy! How does he manage to grab page one! And you work so hard and only get into the 'Congressional Record'."

"And the pictures they take of Joe McCarthy and his lovely Jeannie."

It is a fact that some of the committee chairmen, who feel that their work is at least as important as Joe McCarthy's, if not more so, are miserable at the failure of the Washington reports and the columnists to pay any attention to them. They do not even distort things about them; they do not even attack them. The left wing press does not notice and the right wing press cannot spell their names correctly. They are the forgotten important men of the nation—and they hate it.

For the White House press agents, Congressional grabbing of front page space is always a pain in any part of the anatomy you can think of. They generally feel that they are entitled to all the space in the newspapers that may be allocated to the government. Roosevelt set the fashion of space-grabbing and since his day, which is not as remote as it seems to be, the White House handout has become a problem to those whose business it is to condense or distort or slant what is to be printed. Much of it has to be thrown away, particularly the stuff that comes from the various departments of the government. Many officials know that and arrange to say what they have to tell from the White House steps in the hope that that will make it important.

Surely, if one uses an adding machine or a slide rule or whatever one needs to compute such data, it would be found that since Eisenhower became president, McCarthy has had more page one space than anybody, and it must bother those who want the space for themselves.

Even the wisest of men cannot solve this problem because as long as Joe or anybody else is hot news, the front page will be his. Imagine what space Joe will get should he be censured and he goes into the states of his enemies and beats out their brains with their own records!

Diet and Health

By HERMAN N. RUNDSEEN

At the end of each bone there are little bone centers. These little centers are especially subject to injury. A break or other injury to them may delay growth for years, and even cause unequal growth between the extremities.

The nerve supply to the growth centers at the ends of the bones are very small, so there is usually very little pain associated with injury to them. Most damage to these points is caused by a twisting injury rather than by a direct blow, usually through falling.

Hard to Repair

The growth center of the hip has a special weakness in heavy-set boys between the ages of ten and sixteen. It is very common for boys in this group to suffer hip injury which may alter their growth.

These injuries are often difficult to repair. They must be put back almost perfectly, because the growth cells may be damaged enough to cause poor healing.

Bone Center Injury Could Be Serious

Proper treatment of severe growth center injury to children can lessen permanent bone injury. Even better, it may usually be prevented by using proper athletic equipment for rough games.

A physician should be asked to check every injury occurring within two inches of a joint in a growing child, especially if the injury is of a twisting nature. Although the amount of pain and immediate disability these injuries cause may be slight, it is better to have them checked rather than risk the chance of a permanent deformity or shortening of one of the limbs.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. G.: My son recently suffered a skull fracture. Why didn't the doctors give him sedatives for his comfort?

Answer: Many times, in a head injury, the giving of sedatives will mask and disguise the symptoms of developing injury to the brain and nervous system. Therefore, in order to watch the progress of the injury, sedatives are not usually given.

Democratic Appeal for Support

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON — The Democrats will ask the voters to give them control of the next Congress in the November elections on the ground that they have fought for the "little people's welfare," whereas they maintain that the Eisenhower Administration and its Capitol Hill majority have served big business and industry in accord with the Republicans' historic policies and philosophy.

Although he rarely indulges in political forecasts, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democrats' able Senate leader, predicts that his party will win both House and Senate because of the popular response to this humanitarian appeal.

RESPONSIBILITY — "The

CAPTURED May 7 when the Indo-chinese garrison of Dienbienphu fell to a 55-day Communist siege, Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries is to be returned to the French in a prisoner exchange, according to a Vietnam broadcast. (International)

Democratic party," he says, "has established a record of which every Democrat can be proud during the 83rd Congress. It is a record of responsibility—a record of genuine concern for the welfare of all of our people instead of the welfare of a few special groups."

"The Democrats in the 83rd Congress can truthfully say that they have sought to protect the interests of farmers, workingmen and businessmen without giving undue weight or influence to any one segment of our population. On this basis, I believe the voters in November will return Democratic majorities to both branches of Congress."

PLATFORM — Although Sen. Johnson is listed as a moderate rather than a politico-economic extremist, he has outlined a platform which ranges the Democrats on the side of the "people" and the Republicans on the side of "the interests."

The Senator's Texas friends cite his own experience as evidence that he has gauged political trends and sentiment correctly. In the 1948 primary, he won by a scant 87 votes.

A few weeks ago, he scored a smashing victory with a 510,000 majority. On the same day, Gov. Allan Shivers, an Eisenhower Democrat, was forced into a primary run-off with Ralph W. Yarborough, Austin lawyer and a "regular" Democrat.

MAJOR ISSUES—Here are the major issues on which the Democratic leadership contends, they strove on behalf of the popular needs, whereas the GOP in their opinion, showed greater concern for "special interests":

Agriculture: The Democrats favored supports at 90 per cent parity, while the Administration originally demanded a 75 per cent minimum, and succeeded in obtaining an 82½ base. Labor: The Democrats advocated greater protection for the workmen through revision of the Taft-Hartley Act, while the GOP tried to "water down" such safeguards with a compromise measure that satisfied neither labor nor management.

Taxes: The Democrats wanted greater tax relief for people in the lower brackets rather than for "coupon-clipping stockholders." They will point out also that the reduction for which the Republicans claim credit was provided for automatically by the Truman Administration at the outbreak of the Korean conflict.

Monopoly: The Democrats will brand both the Atomic Energy Bill and the TVA-AEC power deal as a "giveaway" of national sources to the so-called "interests."

Public welfare: The Democrats will evidence their efforts for an expanded school luncheon program and rural electrification facilities as proof that they were the "people's friends."

SPOKESMEN NOTE — The Democratic spokesmen note that, in the first session of the 83rd Congress, they supported many of President Eisenhower's proposals because they were simply extensions or enlargements of the Roosevelt-Truman program. Indeed, they point out that the administration would have been routed on many issues if it had not been for minority reinforcement.

They rallied against Eisenhower during the second session, when he first offered his own Republican program after a year of political and legislative gestation. Ike, in their opinion, was okay when he adopted his predecessors' reforms, but off the beam when he advanced his own ideas.

Jobless Claims Hit Year's Low

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government says new claims for unemployment compensation have gone down for the fifth straight week. During the week ended Aug. 14 they hit the lowest level since last October.

The Bureau of Employment Security reports initial claims last week totaled 255,700, down 16,500 from the previous week.

Unemployment among persons insured for jobless compensation was counted at 14 million for the week ended Aug. 7, the lowest such figure since last Sept. 26. This was a 39,100 decline from the previous week and a drop of more than 400,000 from the February 1954 peak of 2,213,000.

'Want To Help Others' Say Victims of Polio

NEW YORK — Seated in wheel chairs, braced in steel from feet to waist, their ever-present crutches close at hand, Mrs. Marion Kaufmann and Mrs. Ella Mae Tomevi heard about the Emergency March of Dimes and immediately volunteered their services.

"What can we do to help?" was their query.

Their determination to help other polio sufferers comes even as they themselves are undergoing treatment at the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation of New York university-Bellevue Medical center. This determination is heightened because they know their hometown chapters of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis are responsible for their present opportunity of "learning how to live to the hilt, within the limits of their disabilities."

Teaming up as patient-pals after their meeting at the institute earlier this year, the two now are more than halfway through their programs of rehabilitation. This training includes therapy of all kinds—physical, occupational, recreational, vocational. It means instruction in walking with crutches and braces; learning how to get in and out of wheel chairs, house chairs, davenport, beds, automobiles; training for the activities of daily living still possible despite handicaps.

FOR THE POLIO PATIENT, rehabilitation, or "rehab," may begin with being "weaned" from an iron lung, relearning to breathe despite chest paralysis. It may carry through for months and years in all aspects of the patient's care and treatment.

Both are 28, married and counting primarily on becoming good housewives again, relearning household chores in light of their handicaps. Both are blue-eyed, animated and cheerful. Ella Mae is a honey-blond; Marion is a redhead—and a honey, too.

They both have had training and continue an interest in music. Marion was a nightclub singer and a radio actress. Ella Mae sang in concert and church choirs. Both contracted polio away from home, Ella Mae while visiting her Marine corps husband in Florida, Marion while traveling through Tennessee with her husband on the way back to New York from Mexico.

The Kaufmanns live in Greenwich Village, New York, with their 2-year-old daughter Toni. Seven-month-old Peter is staying with Mrs. Kaufmann's mother in Flemington, N. J.

Ella Mae's polio attack left her handicapped severely from the waist down, with some involvement in her left arm. She has made great progress toward physical independence. She prides herself on refund ability to negotiate stairs in either direction.

The two are keen on re-establishing their vocational independence, too. Marion, after work as a singer, actress and assistant restaurant manager, later took nurses' training and was graduated in 1949 from the Bellevue Schools of Nursing. Later still she became a nurses' instructor at Bellevue hospital. Today she hopes to follow through on her professional standing as a registered nurse by opening up a nurses' registry after her institute rehabilitation.

Ella Mae thinks she'll be happy just to return to her home and husband in Paterson. But besides her domestic duties, she wants to rejoin the choir of the Hawthorne Methodist church. Moreover, she's proud of her business record as a former secretary to a Baptist minister, as a city clerk, and with the Federal Telephone and Radio corporation in Nutley, N. J. She's not going to cast all that experience aside, but has utilized part of her vocational training at the institute to familiarize herself with the latest in typing and secretarial equipment.

"That's for future insurance," says she. "Mostly I'm going to try to be as good a housewife as I can with the capacities I have left."

Reds Release 1,000 POWs

French Return 350 To Communist Lines

Editor's Note — The following dispatch is the first description received of the exchange of prisoners of war between the French and Vietnam in Indochina which began this week. It was delayed two days by the rigorous French and Vietnamese censorship.

By FORREST EDWARDS
VIET TRI, Indochina (P) — The French command released 1,000 prisoners of war here yesterday and in return got 350, most of them North Africans and Africans chanting Communist songs.

Scores of the freed French Union troops hugged and kissed their Vietnamese captors or submitted to embraces from them.

At a second exchange site at Sam Son, 80 miles down the seacoast from Haiphong, the French released 2,000 Vietnamese and received 200 French Union troops in return.

There was no immediate information available here or at Hanoi on the physical condition of those released in the Sam Son exchanges or if they showed the same degree of Communist indoctrination.

The French released 1,000 more at Viet Tri and another 1,000 to 2,000 at Sam Son today.

Upwards of 30,000 captives are to be exchanged in North Vietnam in the next 10 days, a French officer estimated.

Yesterday at this exchange site, 40 miles northwest of Hanoi, releases of both sides were in generally good physical condition but one of the French freed by the Vietnamese said "those to follow are in worse shape."

He said four prisoners died today in Vietnamese collection camps here. Others, he added, are dying daily in Vietnamese camps 75 to 100 miles northwest and north of Hanoi.

The North African and African troops danced with the Vietnamese and threw their arms around them at the river dock area.

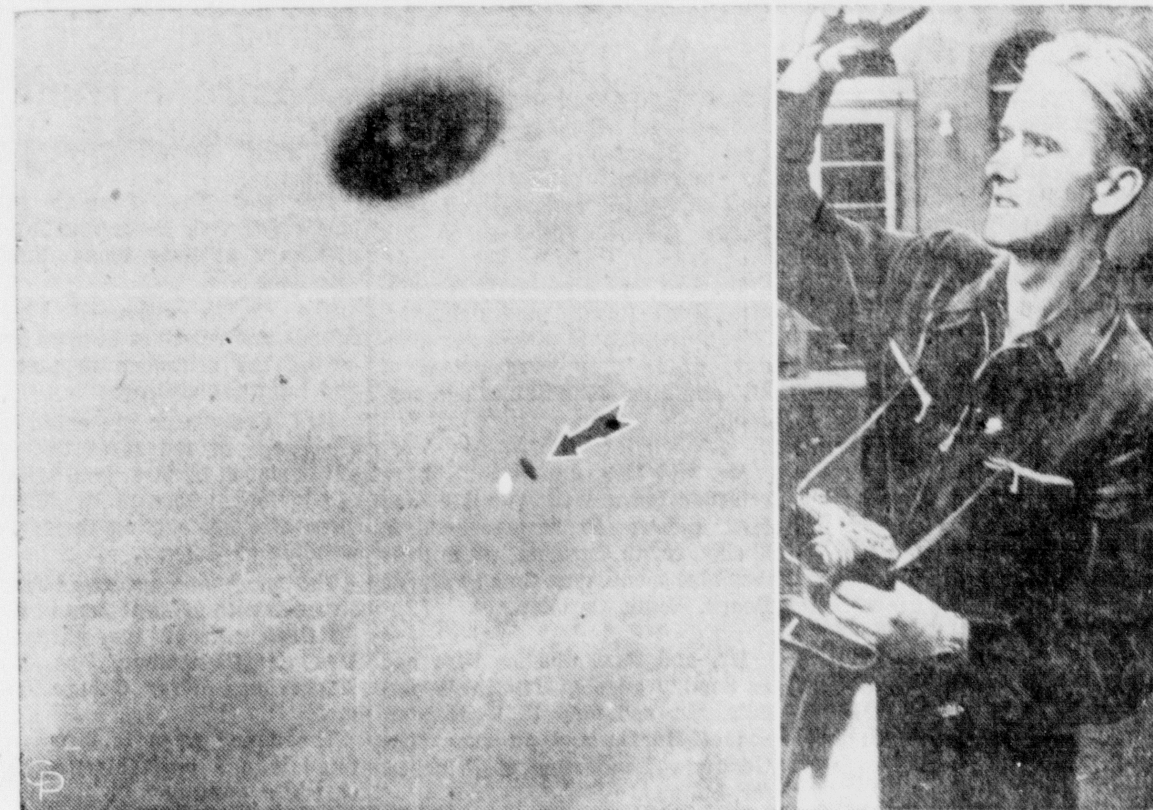

Some 75 were European French troops and Italian, German and Polish Foreign Legionnaires. A few had been captured as long ago as 1950.

Most of the others were captured when Dien Bien Phu fell last May 7.

Old Trick Used To Trip Old Trick
BEIRUT, Lebanon (P)—A Beirut landlord who tried to play an ancient trick for fooling tax-gatherers had the tables turned on him by his tenant with an equally ancient trick.

The landlord asked the apartment dweller to sign three leases which he himself had already signed; one 25 per cent higher than the rent she'd actually agreed to pay and which he wished to show any prospective buyers of the property; one showing the actual rent intended to be the valid lease; one 25 per cent lower than the rent she'd agreed to pay—for the tax collector. The obliging tenant signed all three but then tore up the first two. She now pays 25 per cent less rent.

Bill of Rights for Veterans One of America's Best Buys

By RAYMOND WILCOVE

WASHINGTON — The GI Bill of Rights, a unique document in the history of nations, is now 10 years old. Through it a grateful country has expended $19 billion and underwritten another $24 billion in loans to aid American servicemen of World War II.

Never before has any nation gone to such lengths to help its fighting men in the aftermath of a war.

When President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the GI bill in 1944, he said: "This law gives emphatic notice to the men and women of our armed forces that the American people do not intend to let them down."

How has this promise been carried out in the decade that has since passed? The record shows an impressive fulfillment.

More than 7,800,000 World War II veterans, half of those who served in the war, received an education at a cost of $15 billion. As a result, says the Veterans administration, World War II veterans have become the best educated group of people in the history of the United States.

BECAUSE of their training, they have raised their income level to the point where they are now paying an extra $1 billion a year in income taxes and will thus pay off the cost of the GI education and training program within the next 15 years.

With the help of GI loans, they have also become America's largest single group of homeowners. They pay more real estate taxes to states, cities and counties than any other group of equal size.

During the past 10 years, 3,600,000 veterans, one out of every five who served in the war, obtained loans valued at almost $24 billion. These loans were guaranteed and insured by the United States government.

On these loans, only 32,000, or less than one per cent of all those obtaining loans, defaulted and forced the government to make good for them. In contrast to this, 650,000 GI loans amounting to $3 billion have been repaid in full.

HOME LOANS accounted for 90 per cent of all GI loans obtained by veterans—3.3 million for $2.8 billion. Farm loans numbered 66,000 for $256 million, and business loans 213,000 for $575 million.

In the field of education, the record of achievement is likewise impressive. A total of 150,000 veterans learned the basic rudiments—to read and write—in accelerated grade school classes for adults.

The GI bill has also helped to fill the nation's reservoirs of trained manpower, dangerously depleted right after the war.

Among the veterans trained were 450,000 engineers, 180,000 doctors and nurses, 113,000 scientists, 243,000 accountants, 107,000 lawyers, 36,000 ministers of all faiths, and 17,000 writers.

This was not all. Also trained under the GI bill were 438,000 television and radio repairmen, 711,000 mechanics, 383,000 construction workers, 288,000 metal workers, 138,000 electricians, 83,000 barbers and beauty culturists, 83,000 policemen and firemen, 45,000 bakers and meat cutters, 61,000 printers and typesetters, 76,000 dressmakers and tailors, and hundreds of thousands of others in many fields.

During the early postwar years when jobs were sometimes difficult to obtain for servicemen seeking to readjust themselves to peacetime lives, the GI bill aided nine million unemployed veterans. They drew $3.8 billion.

ONLY 900,000 veterans, or 10 per cent of the total, exhausted their full rights to jobless benefits. The average veteran was on the unemployment rolls for only six weeks.

Of the three programs established under the GI bill, unemployment compensation has faded into history. Another, education and training at government expense, is

Seal Roundup In Bering Sea

'Bachelors' Killed For Their Skins

By RICHARD S. BLOCH

When the cold winds blow, seal skin furs will keep milady in luxury and warmth. These valuable pelts are now being gathered and processed far to the north on the Pribilof islands in the Bering sea.

Today one of these islands, where the United States government manages and protects the fabulous seal herd, natives are rounding up immature male "bachelor" seals.

These young ones have coats of maximum value which bring handsome financial returns to the United States.

After the animals are killed, under the direction of the Fish and Wildlife service, the skins are removed, washed, blubbered and given a thorough curing in salt for at least 10 days. They are then packed, 80 to 100 skins to the barrel, and are ready for shipment to Seattle, Wash., then on to St. Louis to a fur company there.

IN ST. LOUIS the pelts undergo a process involving more than 125 operations which result in durable furs with a softness and pliability designed to catch the fancy of the most discriminating women. The skins are graded and all the excess grease and dirt removed. Dry heat is then applied which loosens the guard hair protecting the silky underfur.

The pelts are treated with oils until they compare in texture to the finest type chamois glove. The dyeing process straightens out the curly hairs and gives the fur a lustrous glow.

The leather is buffed down to the thickness required. The skins are separated into various sizes and grades and sold at public auctions which are held twice a year at the plant.

There are now almost four million seals in the Pribilofs. However, this was not always the case. Through careful management and study the United States has built up the herd from a low of 132,000 in 1910.

As fur seals were killed indiscriminately at sea, extinction was then seemed only a matter of time. This type of sealing was highly wasteful as only one out of five seals killed was actually recovered. The others sank to the bottom of the sea.

WHEN FEMALE seals were killed it meant that the young pups were left alone to die. The mother seal will not nurse any but her own offspring.

The Fish and Wildlife service points out that the fur seals in the United States herd are not to be confused with the common seals which are widely distributed over the world.

The last named do not have the soft underfur that characterizes the Alaska fur seal and makes it so valuable. The seals that frequent San Francisco's Seal rocks to the delight of visitors are for the most part sea lions, familiar to circus fans, and hair seals.

The Alaska fur seals migrate to the Pribilofs each summer to breed and bear their young. Despite the fact that these islands are rocky, treeless, swept by wind and rain, the seals like the spot so well that this is said to be the only place in the world where they have been known to set their flippers on land.

Tribe Ignores 'Death Watch' By Yankees

Remarkable Redskins Just Won't Fold Up In AL Pennant Race

By The Associated Press
While the American League in general and New York Yankees in particular wait breathlessly for the Cleveland Indians' tepee to collapse, the Tribe blithely ignores the somber warnings of their enemies.

Al Lopez's remarkable Redskins were 5½ games in front of the Yanks today and showing no signs of tapering off in their war on the rest of the league. In fact, the Yanks' only chance of winning their sixth straight pennant now is a Cleveland collapse.

The Tribe whipped Baltimore yesterday 12-1 while the Boston Red Sox were putting the crusher on Casey Stengel's outfit 8-2.

Elsewhere in the American League, Detroit halted Chicago (the White Sox are out of it) 7-4, and the Philadelphia A's defeated Washington 3-2 in the first game of a scheduled double-header. The second was called after nine innings because of the Sunday curfew with the score tied 4-4.

In the National League, the New York Giants cemented their claim to the pennant by gaining two games on the Brooklyn Dodgers. They swept a double-header from the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-4 and 5-3 while the Philadelphia Phillies were crushing the Brooks twice, 6-2 and 6-0.

The Milwaukee Braves, 7½ games off the pace, blasted Chicago 12-6 and the St. Louis Cardinals outlasted the Cincinnati Redlegs 9-7.

The Tribe slapped out 20 hits while Early Wynn held the Baltimore club to three in his seven innings on the mound. After that Lopez sent in the scrubs.

The Yanks could do nothing right. Only ancient Enos Slaughter was impressive. Ted Williams knocked in the first four Sox runs with a homer and a double. That was all Frank Sullivan needed to hang up his 11th victory and give Boston a sweep of the three-game weekend series. Harry Byrd was the victim.

Detroit jumped on Billy Pierce for four runs in the first two innings and the White Sox never did get back in the game. Frank Bolling drove in three of the Tigers' runs. Billy Hoelt was the winner.

Joe DeMaestri drove home the winning run for the A's in the 12th inning of the opener against the Senators to give Charlie Bishop his victory.

The Pirates knocked both the Giants' ace pitchers, Johnny Antonelli and Sal Maglie, out of the box before losing. The Giants had to score twice in the ninth to win the first game. A pinch single by Billy Taylor drove in the winning run after three straight passes and an error forced in the tying margin.

In the nightcap, the Pirates chased Maglie in the fifth, and from there on in, a brilliant relief job by Hoyt Wilhelm held them in check. He didn't yield a hit in the 4-2-3 innings he toiled.

The Giants now have a bulge of four games over the Dodgers.

A couple of pitchers who have had indifferent success to put it charitably, moved down the Brooks. Herman Wehmeier, whose record shows six victories and nine defeats, whipped them in the opener, and, in fact, had a shutout until the eighth. In the nightcap, Murry Dickson was nursing a 10-game losing streak until the Phils whitewashed them in the second game.

Del Ennis was the Brooks' nemesis. He hit a three-run homer in each game and drove in seven runs. Carl Erskine was the first-game victim and Russ Meyer the second, although neither was around at the end.

Bobby Thomson returned to full-time duty with Milwaukee and promptly belted a two-run home run. Brave home run slugger Eddie Mathews left the game after he was hit on the finger. There was no fracture. He'll be out only a few days.

St. Louis' victory over Cincinnati dropped the Redlegs to fifth place. Stan Musial had a pair of doubles in the 13-hit Card attack on five Red pitchers. Al Brazle was the winner.

Mt. Sterling Wins From Milledgeville

The victory-starved Mt. Sterling team finally came through with its second win of the season Sunday. Shutting out Milledgeville 8-0 in a game at Milledgeville, they proved they can play tight baseball. But the win didn't get Mt. Sterling out of the cellar.

Sunday was a big day for the pitchers. For Milledgeville, C. Hendricks pitched a sizzling 15 strikeouts. Satterfield, though he had only 4 strikeouts, was the big gun in the Mt. Sterling batting order, helping win his own game with two doubles.

Despite Hendricks' brilliant pitching for Milledgeville, Mt. Sterling bunched their eight hits and took advantage of five errors to win handily. Satterfield allowed only five hits.

Mt. Sterling got off to a one-run lead in the second inning, and caught fire in the third with three runs. From then on, there wasn't any doubt about the outcome.

The game boosts Mt. Sterling to a 2-13 record for the season, and drops Milledgeville to 7-7.

Jeffersonville Wins Game at Good Hope

Jeffersonville won at Good Hope Sunday, but not by the lop-sided score they're accustomed to. The Good Hope ballplayers held Jeff to a 4-2 victory.

Kenny Dawes shouldered the starting pitcher's assignment and struck out two batters. He had allowed four hits for three runs when his brother replaced him in the third. Bob Dawes allowed only two hits for a single run during the rest of the game, though he walked four.

Delford, pitching for Jeff, struck out nine and walked none. He also collected one of his team's two extra-base hits, a double in the last inning. Cook's double in the second was the other long hit of the day for Jeffersonville.

Long ball hitters for Good Hope were B. Dawes and Alkire with triples in the third and fourth.

Jeffersonville has already clinched the little league's "pennant" and now sports a 13-2 record. Good Hope, with a 7-7 record, is in a tie with Milledgeville for second place.

Preparations are under way for the all-star game with the league winner. A meeting to choose the members of the all-star team that will tangle with Jeffersonville will be held at the home of Tom Smalley Sunday at 8 P. M.

Seixas, Trabert Eye Net Finals

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert are preparing for the singles championships at Forest Hills secure in the knowledge they are still the doubles team to beat in the tennis world.

Seixas, the scrappy, court-wise Philadelphia, and Trabert, the "big game" specialist from Cincinnati, playing together for the first time since Wimbledon, defeated Australia's Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall 3-6, 6-4, 8-6, 6-3 in the finals of the national doubles.

In the women's final, defending champions Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., and Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, won their fourth straight title 6-4, 6-4 over Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Mrs. Margaret Osborne du Pont of Wilmington, Del.

Sam H. Harris, successful Broadway theatrical producer, began as manager of prizefighters. One of his most successful charges was Terry McGovern who won both the bantamweight and featherweight titles.

The drag hunt is a slowly hit ball between first base and the pitcher's box, designed to confuse those two players plus the second baseman.

Golf's 19th Hole

Frank Truitt and Charles Buxton will play for the golf championship of the Country Club. The title match will be a 36-hole grind and it will be played in the near future. Truitt moved into the final by a 2 and 1 victory of Ronnie Cornwell, the defending champion who has held the title more times than any two golfers.

That will just about wind up Truitt's golfing in a similar capacity. Cornwell has not been playing as much golf this summer as he has for the last several years because he had been devoting so much of his spare time to training and driving harness race horses.

Buxton gets his crack at the title through a 1-up victory of Delmar Mowery, a former coach at Madison Mills High School and about the hottest golfers around the club this summer.

Washington C. H., Ohio

Vandalia Set To Host Big Shotgun Test

VANDALIA (AP)—This Miami Valley village braced itself today for the biggest barrage in trapshooting history.

The 55th Grand American trapshoots championship event opened today, and President C. E. Huber of the Amateur Trapshooting Assn. of America predicted the entry list will top those of the previous 54 events.

Last year 1,949 entrants fired in the Grand American Handicap, the No. 1 feature, exceeding the previous high by almost 200.

Huber said entries in this year's classic probably will go over the 2,000 mark.

First indications that the entry record would be broken came yesterday when 429 took part in the Dayton Homecoming 200 - target event, the last in three days of tuneup competition.

Last year's 385 was a record for that event.

Today's program, the "introduction," called for 200-targets at 16 yards with an entry fee of $25 of which $13 will enter the purse fund.

To be decided on the first 100 targets were the husband-and-wife title based on combined scores and the veterans championship for men over 70 and women over 50. On the total 200 targets the parent-child and brother-brother titles were to be decided.

Added features were the "champion of champions" races for the women and junior state title holders to be decided over 100-targets at 16 yards.

Today's program offered the first 200 of the 600 targets at 16 yards to be fired at this week.

The "Roaring Grand" slate also calls for 300 targets at handicaps and 100 doubles. The 1,500,000-target program ends Saturday.

Ezzard Charles, heavyweight champion, won 42 amateur fights and lost none. He then decided to turn pro.

Joe Kuharich Gets Top Post On Redskins

DETROIT — Joe Kuharich, a man who has worked with the Washington Redskins football team for only 33 days, today took over as head coach under a "get tough" policy which resulted in Coach Curly Lambeau's dismissal.

After the club arrived in Detroit last night for an exhibition game with the Detroit Lions Friday night, Washington General Manager Dick McCann said flatly:

"Joe Kuharich is the new coach of the Redskins."

McCann said the move was made shortly after Lambeau and

Water Table Still At a Dangerously Low Point

The long discussion over the need of sufficient water supply for the future in Washington C. H. is accentuated somewhat by reports coming out of Columbus, carrying the warning of water experts and specialists to the effect that recent rains over Ohio have not helped the water table in the state very much.

It is pointed out that while rains so far this year have made things above ground seem very promising, with green grass and growing crops, there is still a distinct peril underneath where water tables actually are at record low. This is questioned by some but this official word comes directly from the Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

In statement and periodicals sent to municipalities, spokesmen for this department stress their warnings against water wastage and continue to urge new surface water reservoirs, similar to the upground reservoir suggested for Washington C. H.

It is declared that samplings taken over various points in the state from among the division's 180 observation wells and almost as many stream flow stations revealed ground water levels ranging from six inches to 3 1/2 feet below the 1953 table.

Last year was the fourth driest year in Ohio history, with precipitation only slightly greater than records 1930 and 1934. Some 46 cities, towns and villages curtailed use of water, many farmers and some communities trucked water at almost prohibitive costs and some 41 southern Ohio counties were declared drought disaster areas.

Present conditions, these experts say could become serious very rapidly if rainfall ceased for a few weeks. These conditions blamed on a precipitation deficiency last winter and spring.

The water level was well below normal in March and April, has dipped since, it is reported. Authorities explained that summer rainfall is soaked up by the soil and used by crops and trees for growth. Therefore, the water level can not be expected to rise before the present growing season ends, even if rainfall is plentiful.

C.O. Hargrave Dies in Hospital

C. O. Hargrave, 74, of Sabina, died in Memorial Hospital here at 7:15 A. M. Sunday.

He had been taken to the hospital two days before after he had taken ill suddenly while visiting his daughter, Mrs. Richard Kelly, in Washington C. H. He had been in failing health for several years, but his fatal illness came unexpectedly.

He was a native of Bowersville, but had lived in Sabina for the last 22 years.

Mrs. Hargrave died in 1949.

Besides his daughter, he is survived by three sons, Denver and Victor Hargrave of Sabina, and Donald Hargrave in the Air Force in California.

Funeral services are to be conducted in the Sabina Methodist Church by the pastor, Rev. C. D. Smith, but the time is still uncertain. Interment is to be in the Sabina Cemetery.

Mrs. Kate Eastman Bush Dies; Widow of Civil War Veteran

Mrs. Kate Eastman Bush, 94, one of the few, if not the only, widow of a Civil War veteran in Fayette County, died at 1 P. M. Saturday in Memorial Hospital, two days after she was brought there from her home at Jeffersonville.

Although a native of Wisconsin, she had lived in the northern part of Fayette County virtually all of her life. She was a member of one of the community's prominent families of those early years, a family that had extensive land holdings.

She was the widow of Gilbert L. Bush, who died more than 30 years ago.

Mrs. Bush had been very active in the Jeffersonville Methodist Church for many years and at one time was a member of its official board. She also was active in the WSCS of the church. She was a charter member of the Eastern Star in Jeffersonville and an honorary member of the Progress Club.

The Eastern Star ritualistic service is to be held at the Morrow Funeral Home at 8 P. M. Monday.

Funeral services are to be held at the Gerstner Funeral Home at 3:30 P. M. Saturday by Rev. Clinton P. Swengel, pastor Grace Methodist Church.

The minister paid a personal tribute to Mrs. Snyder for her work for the First Presbyterian Church, of which she was a lifelong member and for her service to the community in which she lived for so many years.

Rev. Swengel also offered prayer, quoted the Scripture and read, "Still, Still With Thee."

The floral remembrances which banked the casket were taken care of by the pallbearers, Robert P. Wilson, Max Lawrence, Clark Wickensimer, Robert Link, Charles Dunton, all of Washington C. H., and Frank Thatcher of Wilmington.

Interment was in the family lot in the Washington C. H. Cemetery.

Stock Car Feature Is Won by Bowsher

Jack Bowsher of Springfield today ho'ds the mid-season championship of stock car racing at the Washington C. H. Speedway.

He took the title Saturday night when he won the feature race while capacity crowd yelled and cheered in the excitement.

The 50-lap feature ran its full course, but two re-starts had to be made before that was accomplished.

The first halt came when Berry Meadows of Springfield hit a light pole when he failed to make a turn and put the "lights on it out of commission. When several cars spun out of control, a re-start was ordered.

After a few more laps, another accident halted the merry, mad whirl temporarily.

None of the drivers was seriously injured, despite many spins, rolls and crashes.

Trophies were awarded to Bowsher, who turned in 17:38 for the fastest time of the evening, Tom Gallant of Troy and Dick Arnold of Dayton who finished in that order in the feature race.
